What appeared to be an unjust decision handed down at first base by Umpire Bobby Carruthers in the eighth inning of the game at Sportsman's Park, enabled the Browns to win the third straight from Baltimore after a performance which was as full of holes as a seive. Even the most prejudiced fans will sometimes admit that the visiting team sometimes gets the worst of it and there were few who thought that Broadway Alec" Smith was not justified in making the vigorous kick which resulted in his benching.

Four pitchers were used during the game. The Foundlings took such a liking to the slants of Wille Sudhoff that McAleer yanked his diminutive slab artist off the rubber after the 'ath inning. Ike Butler, the former Shreveport pitcher, made his American League debut for the Birds, and though he was hit frequently he made a good impression. After the visitors had batted Sudhoff into retirement and obtained the lead, it was deemed advisable to take his benching. the lead, it was deemed advisable to take no chances on Butler and Charley Shields was sent in to finish the game, Butler retiring in the sixth.

Browns Deserved to Lose. Had the Browns lost they would have richly deserved their defeat, for they played with the careless air and held the visitors too lightly. With the Browns two runs in the lead, Harper loafed in the eighth and ninth inning and when he found himself in a bad pocket he woke up just in time. ninth inning and when he found himself in a bad pocket he woke up just in time. Bob Wallace's wild throw was the fielding blunder that made an extra inning necessary, but if Carruthers had given proper decision on Smith in the eighth the Browns would never have come to bat in the tenth. The first hit made off Sudhoff was a home run over the right field fence in the first inning. Jimmy Williams was the author of that hit and also some others later on. The Browns evened up in their half when Arndt muffed Hemphill's fly, after Burket and Heidrick had succumbed. Anderson's pretty drive to left scored Hemphill and Big John was caught trying to steal. Wallace's two-bagger ushered in the second inning. McCormick walked and both advanced on a passed ball. Padden's hit scored Wallace. Kahoe sacrificed, but McCormick was squeezed at the plate on Sudhoff's tap to Gilbert. Burkett's single and Heidrick's double, which fell too close to the bieschers for a catch by cMFarland, made a good start in the third and when Hemphill skied to Selbach. Burket registered. Anderson gave Selbach another chance and Heidrick tried to sore Burket registered. Anderson gave Selbach another chance and Heidrick tried to score on the play, but was out on "Kip's" good throw to the plate.

Bombardment of Sudhoff.

Bombardment of Sudhoff.

The Foundlings alighted on Sudhoff in the fourth like files on a piece of iump sugar. Four hits, including two successive doubles, tied the score and put them one to the good. Williams started the bingling. He was forced by Arndi, who scored on Meilor's double over Heidrick. Meilor came home on Howell's two-baser to left, and the latter scored on Gilbert's liner to center and a double play. Smith lifted out a fly to Burkett, who returned the ball to Padden in time to nail Smith, but not before Howell scored.

Three widely scattered singles and a gift gave the Birds another in the fifth, but in the last half of that inning the Browns came back with a pair and tied the score. Harper was warming up, and Friel batted for Sudhoff, getting a hit after Kahoe's out. Burkett's bunt rolled out of the line and back into safe territory before Smith fielded it. Heidrick forced Friel at third. Hemphill hit to center, and McPariand threw to the plate. Burkett had too good a start to be headed, and Butler planted himself in front of the bell and shot it to first to catch Hemphill naping. Mellor let the throw get by him and Heidrick scored on the error.

One Decision That Hurt.

One Decision That Hurt.

Harper and Shields appeared on the scene about this time, and the score remained a tie until the eighth, when Umpire Carruthers got in his "ansist." Melior's Texas Leaguer fell safe in left, and he advanced on Howell's sacrifice. Gilbert fouled to McCormick, but Smith shot a hot one at Wallack. The shortstop fumbled for a second and then threw quickly.

Smith was crossing and had already tagged the bag when Anderson received the throw and Mellor crossed the plate, but his run was crossed out. Much to everybody's surprise, Carruthers called Smith out and then the catcher turned on him. His objections were overruled and he was ordered out of the game. As he put on his cost and walked over to the bench Smith was cheered by the crowd, which universally condemned the decision. George Yeager took his place. However, after that deal the visitors seemed to lose heart and the crowd sympathized with them.

The Browns got two runs off Shields in the eighth and broke the tie. Anderson was hit and Walince again clouted the ball for two bases, scoring the big first baseman. McCormick shoved a fast grounder between second and first and Waliace scored, assisted by Arndt's bad throw to the plate. The next three men were carted off to the morgue.

Score Tied on Wild Throw.

Score Tied on Wild Throw.

Harper suffered from overconfidence in the ninth. Shields died on his tap to Anderson. but McFarland doubled to left. Selbach grounded to Heidrick and McFarland scored. Williams worked Harper for a pass, but was forced by Arndt. Anderson fielded the ball and threw to Wallace for the force-out. The latter made a quick return and larew wild. The ball went clear out of Anderson's range and Selbach scooted home with the tying run. The game seemed lost, but McCormick grabbed Mellor's grounder and tagked Arndt between the bases.

Hemphill doubled in the ninth, after Burkett and Heidrick had been put away, but he was left at that station. Those who thought that the Birds had gone about far enough were nervous in the tenth until Barry McCormick again cut off the visitors without a run. Howell led off with a liner and Gilbert sacrificed him. Yeager popped to Anderson, but Shields walked. Two on bases and one out looked anything but encouraging, but McCormick scooped up McFarland's bounder and threw Shields out at second.

McFariand's bounder and threw Shields out at second.

The Browns got the decision in the tenth by going after Shields as if they had ceased to regard the game as a joke.

Gilbert and Melior put a crimp in Wallace, but the next three men followed with hits, filling the bases. Gilbert knocked down Kahoe's drive, but could not cut Fadden out at second. Harper planted a Texas Leaguer in the right that Arndt dropped after a long run. He recovered himself for a bad throw, which let McCormick home without the formality of a silde.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Boston, Mass, Aug. 5.-Umpire Tom Brown made a very yellow decision in the eighth inning of to-day's game, declaring Cooley not out at the plate when Ryan had his foot square on the home base. That decision cost the St. Louis Cardinals the game, for it gave the Bostons a run which put them one ahead, and which was enough to win.

The decision was on a force out at home Philadeiphia.

> After Tenney fouled to Hartman, Cooley singled prettily to center. Carney sent a grounder to Pearson, who fumbled. Pearson also fumbled Greminger's hit. That filled the bases. De Mont hit to Farrell, who threw to the plate to get Cooley on the force-out, but Brown could not see it. The Cardinals did not figure in the game

Then Pearson put on steam, and they were easy outs until they luckily scored a fourth run. Carney hit an easy high fly to the infield, and Kruger and Farrell went for it. There was a collision, and in consequence neither got the play. A sacrifice sent Carney to third and a fly out to center gave him a chance to score.

Then the Cardinals got to batting. Donovan singled, but Farreil filed out to Cooley. Kruger hit to right field, and Hartman to center. The latter's hit scored Barciay and sent Kruger to second. Kruger and Hartman advanced on Ryan's infield out, and scored on Pearson's pretty single.

PRESIDENT BAN JOHNSON'S VISIT. American League Official a Spectator

at Yesterday's Game. President Ban Johnson of the American League was a visitor in St. Louis yesterday and witnessed the game between the Baltimore and St. Louis teams at Sportsman's Park in the afternoon. He was in company with President Goldman, Ben Adkins, Secretary Hedges of the local club Adkins, Secretary Hedges of the local club and others.

"Everything in the way of news has been pretty thoroughly covered by the newspapers in the past few weeks and I don't know that there is anything new at this time. We are well satisfied and expect to have a stronger circuit next year, even though the National is trying to take from us some of our best players and in verious other ways are trying to crush out competition. Barney Drayfuss was not offered a franchise in the American League and neither has he made any advances to us. Dreyfuse's only fault is that he is in bad company in the National League, for he is a true sportsman."

while the Cardinals are playing a fare-well engagement with the Boston Nationals at Boston, the Browns will meet the Boston Americans to-day in the first of a series of three games. It behooves the McAleerites to get up and hustle, for the kind of ball they played against Baltimore in the last two games will never get them anything from Boston. If the locals can stave the Bostonians off for at least two of the games, they should have no trouble in staying at least as high as second place for the remainder of the season. Only a couple of games separate the locals from the champions, but the chances are against a rise. Washington plays in Chicago to-day, and Philadelphia at Cleveland. The Cardinals will move on to Brooklyn after to-day's game. Either Yerkes or O'Neill will do the slabwork to-day.

PILLSBURY-WOLF GAME ADJOURNED American Champion Had a Winning Advantage-Janowski Again Leads. Hanover, Aug. 5.-The master chess players met this morning to contest the thirteenth regular round, facing each other as follows: Atkins vs. Bardeleben, Gunsberg vs. Janowski, Wolf vs. Pilisbury, Marshali vs. Tschigorin, Olland vs. Gotts-chall, Mieses vs. Cohn, Popiel vs. Levin, Swiderski vs. Mason and Suechting vs. Martier vs.

chall, Mieses vs. Cohn, Popiel vs. Levin, Swiderski vs. Mason and Suechting vs. Mapler.

At the first adjournment, Janowski had again taken the lead by disposing of Gunsberg in fine style, while Mieses had made short work of the Berliner, Cohn. The Russian student. Levin, had gone down before the Bohemian, Popiel, while yesterday's conqueror of Janowski, Mason, could do no more than draw with Swiderski, the Lepsiger.

Wolf played a fine game against Pillsbury, who, up to the time of adjournment, had not gained much ground. Marshall set the pace for Tschigorin, but the latter held his own, and Napier seemed to play a slightly better game against Suechting.

When play was given over for the day Atkins, Tschigorin and Olland had won their games; Suechting and Napier had drawn and the Pillesbury-Wolf game was unfinished, the former having a winning advantage.
